

The Distance Learning Company

What is The Distance Learning Company

Home of America's premier e-learning services provider, the Distance Learning Company makes e-learning easy and affordable to organizations of almost any size, from dozens of people to thousands. Effectively delivering e-learning is much more involved than just offering content over the Internet, and every organization faces unique challenges. By working collaboratively with clients, DLC crafts solutions that precisely meet both schedule and budget. The results are effective and convenient e-learning experiences.

What We Do

The Distance Learning Company hosts and delivers educational and training content to e-learners around the world. We use our proprietary online technology platform and software to simplify the creation, delivery and tracking of effective e-learning experiences and solutions that provide low-cost alternatives to traditional educational and training experiences.
